

This image shows a blank sheet of primary-ruled writing paper. The paper is white with rounded corners and is set against a background of teal and lime green geometric shapes. The writing area is defined by horizontal lines: a solid top line, a dashed midline, and a solid bottom line. This pattern repeats down the page, providing a guide for letter height and placement. There are 12 such sets of lines on the page.